

German Equity Partners IV ("GEP IV"), a fund managed by the independent German private equity firm ECM Equity Capital Management („ECM“), has acquired the MediFox Group, headquartered in Hildesheim, in partnership with the company's management in an ownership succession transaction.

MediFox is the leading provider of specialised software solutions for ambulatory care service providers and nursing care homes in Germany serving more than 5,000 customers. The complexity of reimbursement regulations and requirements for documentation of care services make it increasingly attractive for care service providers to use specialised software solutions. The care market in Germany is expected to realise steady long-term growth based on underlying demographic trends. There are currently approximately 2.5 million patients and roughly 23,000 care providers in Germany.

With the strategic and financial support of the fund managed by ECM, and based on MediFox's strengths in sales and product development, the company aims to further develop the business model and realise growth potential.

The MediFox Group is comprised of three subsidiaries. MediFox GmbH is the leading provider of specialised software solutions for ambulatory care service providers and nursing care homes in Germany. The transaction was realised together with MediFox management in the context of a management buyout. Further details of the transaction were not disclosed.
